Master marksman achievement witcher 3 guide book 7

Master marksman witcher 3.

Now get ready to repeat this process many times (unless you're lucky)...Some additional tips:Axii (with Delusion skill maxed out) will help keeping your opponents still, making it easier to aim for their head. If you're doing this post-game, you should be able to one shot enemies using your crossbow, so you won't have the problem of accidentally killing them with a critical hit when trying to lower their health. By nonhumans the game means elves and dwarves (not that this matters if you just stick to Devil's Pit).Hope this helps anyone, as this achievement almost drove me mad.Page 22 26 comments 78 achievements grouped by sorted by selected As war rages on throughout the Northern Realms, you take on the greatest contract of your life — tracking down the Child of Prophecy, a living weapon that can alter the shape of the world. There's an invisible wall there which they're unable to pass. If you need to grind, there are several locations where bandits respawn. If necessary, use a Potion of Clearance (available at various shopkeepers) to get the required character points. Tips] For abilities, get Lightning Reflexes, Anatomical Knowledge, and Steady Shot. If you're somewhat of an achievement hunter and you haven't tried this one yet, it's kind of broken as the headshot detection in this game appears to be random at best. Lower the difficulty to "Just the Story!" to make things easier (another reason to save this achievement for last if you want to get 'Ran the Gauntlet' or 'Walked the Path'). Contrary to what some players believe, the screen shaking is NOT the game counting a headshot, but the game counting a critical hit, as I got this achievement to pop when the screen didn't shake at all.Once you've cleaned out all the Deserters, fast travel to Vizima (loads quickly), then travel back to Devil's Pit again and the enemies will be back. After trying all kinds of things and headshotting approximately 500 enemies, there's a few things that ended up helping me a lot with getting this achievement to pop. Axii will make them fall from their horse for easier pickings. Here you can take all the time you need to headshot them without worrying about enemies interrupting you.Some people think nonhumans includes monsters, but they don't. As such, this can be a very time consuming achievement. This is a very nice spot to get some other combat achievements you might have missed as well. You will know you got a successful headshot when the screen shakes a bit after doing so. I highly recommend you to leave this achievement for post-game and to not waste time trying to get this by headshotting enemies from time to time. Sheathe your sword to max the damage output of your crossbow. Another possible location is Trotheim, depending on the conclusion of the Flesh for Sale quest. Trust me, you'll appreciate every bit that helps shorten the grinding process.After completing these preparations go to Devil's Pit, a Deserter's camp in Velen. Use Axii or Yrden on an opponent, which will allow you to better aim for a short period of time. Although, when you have the Lightning Reflexes skill maxed out, this isn't really necessary.If you're having trouble hitting the enemies because they've surrounded you, lure them to the gate. The Devil's Pit is one of the best places to grind for bandits. About 6-10 bandits will respawn when you return to the area. If he doesn't have enough of them, just exit the shop menu and re-enter it to replenish his stock. 4 bandits on horseback respawn just south of Drahim Castle. Try to aim for the scalp/hair if having difficulties hitting the head. Imo, it's the most annoying achievement in the game. Now go to a Blacksmith and get about 100 to 150 Precision Bolts. Wait a moment and try again. There is another location just north of White Eagle Fort where 3 bandits will respawn. The bandits will get 'stuck' pursuing you near the entrance, which allows you to take your time when aiming for the headshot. Most Blacksmiths have them, but I used Hattori in Novigrad. Couldn't find any good info on this here, so I decided to make a post about it. When shooting them, I think it's best to aim for the top of the head, but sadly, there's no way to be sure about it. Animals\(cows, pigs, etc.\) DO NOT COUNT towards this achievement. in: The Witcher 3 achievements Edit 15 Master Marksman is an achievement in The Witcher 3: Wild Hunt and requires one to kill 50 human and nonhuman opponents by striking them in the head with a crossbow bolt. At the shrine west of Yngvar's Fang, there is another location where 3 bandits will respawn, as well as a herd of goats. Just north of Giants' Toes, there is another location where 3 bandits will respawn. An easy way to force opponents to respawn is to fast-travel out of the territory and then fast travel back; going from Velen/Novigrad to Skellige or Vizima and then returning will cause enemies to respawn, but traveling fast-traveling within Velen/Novigrad may not. You'll likely be wasting your time.First, max out the Lightning Reflexes and Anatomical Knowledge skills, and naturally don't forget to activate them.
